Home & Personal Property Policy Wording

Product: HomeGuard Personal Lines Policy

Policy Document Reference: AGI-HG-POL-2026-03 | Effective Date: 1 March 2026

This document sets out the terms, conditions, coverage limits, excesses (deductibles) and claim requirements applicable to Amani General Insurance HomeGuard policies. It applies to all policyholders unless a specific schedule endorsement states otherwise.

1. Policy Overview

The HomeGuard policy provides cover for a policyholder's home, its contents, and specified personal property against a defined set of insured events, including water damage, accidental damage, fire, and theft. Cover applies at the residential address stated on the policy schedule, and for personal electronic items, cover extends to loss or damage occurring anywhere within the Republic of Kenya unless otherwise excluded below.

Every claim is subject to the excess (deductible) applicable to the relevant claim type, the coverage limits set out in Section 3, the exclusions in Section 5, and the submission of the supporting documents listed in Section 4. Claims that do not meet these requirements may be delayed, reduced, or declined.

2. Insured Events

2.1 Water Damage

Cover includes sudden and accidental water damage to the insured property arising from a burst or leaking pipe, a failed water heater or geyser, storm-driven rainwater ingress, or an overflowing bath, basin, or appliance. Damage to ceilings, flooring, fixed fittings, and household contents directly caused by such an event is covered up to the limits in Section 3.

Gradual water damage — such as long-term seepage, rising damp, or damage from a leak that existed for more than 14 days before being reported — is not covered under this section and falls under the general exclusions in Section 5.

2.2 Accidental Damage

Cover includes sudden, unintended, and unforeseen physical damage to insured contents and personal property, including portable electronic devices (laptops, tablets, phones, cameras) that are dropped, knocked over, or otherwise physically damaged during normal use, transport, or a house move. The item must be repairable or a total loss as a direct result of a single identifiable incident.

Wear and tear, mechanical or electrical breakdown not caused by an external physical event, and cosmetic damage that does not affect the function of the item are not covered.

2.3 Fire and Theft (Reference Only)

Fire, lightning, explosion, and theft following forcible and violent entry are also insured events under the HomeGuard policy. These claim types are outside the scope of this WSO2Con demo scenario and are included here for completeness only.

3. Excess (Deductible) and Coverage Limits

The table below sets out the excess payable by the policyholder for each claim type, and the maximum amount Amani General Insurance will pay out per claim under the standard HomeGuard policy.

Claim Type	Excess (Deductible)	Maximum Cover per Claim	Notes
Water damage	KES 5,000	KES 500,000	Applies per incident, per property
Accidental damage — electronics	KES 7,500	KES 150,000 per item	Max 2 items per claim
Accidental damage — other contents	KES 5,000	KES 250,000	Furniture, appliances, etc.
Fire	KES 10,000	KES 1,000,000	Reference only — not in demo scope
Theft	KES 10,000	KES 400,000	Reference only — not in demo scope

The excess is deducted from the settlement amount at the time payment is processed. If the value of the loss is lower than the applicable excess, no payment will be made.

3.1 Example

A policyholder submits a water damage claim for KES 25,000 in repair costs. The KES 5,000 excess is deducted, and Amani General Insurance pays out KES 20,000, provided the claim is within the KES 500,000 policy limit and all required documents (Section 4) have been submitted.

4. Required Documents per Claim Type

To assess and process a claim, the following supporting documents must be submitted by the policyholder. Claims with missing documents will be placed on hold pending receipt.

Claim Type	Required Documents
Water damage	incident_report.pdf, proof_of_ownership.pdf, repair_estimate.pdf, photos.zip (if available)
Accidental damage — electronics	incident_report.pdf, purchase_receipt.pdf

incident_report.pdf must describe the date, location, and cause of the loss. proof_of_ownership.pdf may be a purchase invoice, bank/credit card statement showing the purchase, or a title deed extract for fixed property items. repair_estimate.pdf must be from an accredited service provider or contractor and dated within 30 days of the claim being lodged. purchase_receipt.pdf for electronics claims must show the item model and purchase date.

5. Exclusions

- Damage arising from gradual seepage, rising damp, or any leak present for more than 14 days before being reported.
- Wear and tear, rust, corrosion, or mechanical/electrical breakdown not caused by an external physical event.
- Damage occurring while the property is unoccupied for more than 60 consecutive days, unless prior written consent was obtained from Amani General Insurance.
- Loss or damage caused intentionally by the policyholder or a person acting with the policyholder's consent.
- Business equipment or stock, unless specifically listed on the policy schedule.
- Damage to items that were already damaged or defective prior to the insured event.

6. Claims Process

- 1. Report the incident to Amani General Insurance within 30 days of discovery via the Claims Portal, the Claims Contact Centre, or email.
- 2. Submit the required documents for the claim type as listed in Section 4.
- 3. A claims assessor validates the claim, confirms the documents received, and identifies any missing documents.
- 4. If documents are missing, the policyholder is notified and the claim is placed in a Missing Documents status until they are received.
- 5. Once all documents are received, the assessor makes a decision to approve or reject the claim, applying the excess and coverage limits in Section 3.
- 6. Approved claims are processed for payment. Policyholders are notified of the outcome by email and can track claim status via the Claims Portal.
